Wedding preparations are busily going on in a thousand homes and friends of the bride-elect are wrestling with the question; "What shall we give her?" it's hard to decide with nothing at hand to help the imagination. Let the wedding gleests call at the SCHWARZSCHILD store. They will delighted with the suggestive beauty and variety of the stock—with the syldences of exquisita tasts and fine workmanship, and they will be no less pleased with the prices.

The place is occupied as a bar-room by L. S. Kumfert. The fire is believed to have been of incendary origh, as it was started on the top step of a flight of stairs leading from the basement behind the oyster counter. The loss is covered by insurance. Congressmen as Well.

The contention raised that owing to the poll tax feature of the Constitution only soldiers (who are exempt from payment) would be qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly, should vaccincte occur in that hody within six mentus after the payment of such taxes, would apply as well to members of Congress. For example, should there be a "accancy in the Virginia delegation—at this time, only those exempt from poll tax payment could properly vote to fill such vacancy.

NEXT STATE CONVENTION

Committee Will Fix Date for It When It Meets to Consider Norfolk City Contest.

LARGE ATTENDANCE LIKELY

May Request Two Days to Act on Subcommittee's Report on Norfolk Case.

last week at Norfolk taking testimony in the contest growing out of the primary, for the election of a City Democratic Committee, has adjourned until next week, when the evidence of the contestees will be taken. It is prequined that this will require soveral days, and a few days more will be consumed in preparing the report to the full committee. It will, therefore, be about the 10th or 15th of February before the State Contral Committee will be called to receive and act on the report of the committee in the Norfolk matter.

State Chairman Ellyson stated yesterday that when the committee is called together for this purpose it will also fix the date and place of the next State convention, and the basis of apportionment or representation therein. These two things, will simice to bring about one of the largest gatherings of the committeemen over held, especially since proxica have been barred from participation in the committee deliberations and decision.

WILL REQUIRE TIME.

The subcommittee in the Norfolk matter will marely make a report embodying the testimony taken in Norfolk in the contested election of a City Committee. It will make no recommendation. The record in the case will be necessarily voluminous. So far as known this will not be printed and sent to members in advance of the meeting, there being no two days to consider and act intelligently upon the report, unless the three members of the subcommittee are practically agreed as to what should be done. In that event a resolution might be offered annulling the primary in October and removing the committee created thoreby, and ordering a new primary.

The trend of the testimony all indicates that the committee will have to order a new primary, though the contestees may offer some strong testimony in rebuttal that may put a new aspect upon the situation, but that is unlikely.

Mr. Gunn, of Norfolk city who was nominated and delayard infinitiated over Mr. W. W. Old, Iran Incident primary, has given out a statement delaring that if it be shown that there is any question as to the regularity of nomination he will rasign his seat in the House and go before the people of Norfolk for vindication.

resentatives and ox-Governors or men prominent in politics, other than those named for delegates.

Each district will send two of its favorite sons to represent it in the great gathering of Democrats in St. Louis, July 6th. So far no suggestions have been heard as to these positions, and they will probably be left to the recommendation of the congressional district delegations.

It is possible, though hardly probable gations.

It is possible, though hardly probable that the convention will undertake to amend or repeal the party plan of primary as it now exists. There is less talk of such changes or of repeal now amond or repeal the party plan of primary as it now exists. There is less its for such changes or of repeal now than a year ago.

The State convention will probably be a large one, as all those for the past five of six years have been. As Norfolk is the city best equipped to handle a large crowd, it will probably be the seat of the convention unless Richmond desires it sufficiently to make a bld for it. With the new Richmond Hotd, the Jefferson, Murphy's, the Powhatan, the Lexington and various smaller healeries all onen, Richmond would be prepared to handle at 1,500 visitors who would probably be in attendance. The basis of apportionment of representation will probably be one delegate for every one hundred votes cust in the last presentation in excess of fifty votes. This would make a convention of about 1,200 delegates, Since that election the electrate has since that election and future conventions will be considerably smaller. The fact is that with the party primary plan perpetuated, there will be no occasion for another Siato Democratic convention.

So far few men have been mentioned for the vesticus districts. Judge Samuel W. Williams, of Wythe, is being urged for the elector at large for the electron that the ending of the State.
